

The most important at a glance

difficulty A/B	length 400 m	duration 1 h	exposition S	sea level starting point 1168 m
sea level entry point 1915 m	sea level highest point 2265 m	access time to the entry point 1:30 h
walking time descent 2:30 h	state: open

best season: JUN, JUL, AUG, SEP, OCT

access: From Obertilliach take the cable car to the Connyalm and follow the Gailtaler Höhenweg around the Golzentipp southwards to the Folmasaisattel.

descent: wie Zustieg!

Gpx file

Interactive map

download>

open>

Description

The remains of an old wooden ladder at the start are reminders of the once sparse protection available on the route to the Spitzenstein. In the past few years new, modern steel anchoring and a via ferrata route rope have been provided, which means another mountain in Hohe Tauern is accessible via a via ferrata route – difficulty level A/B. The view from this most westerly Dolomite ridge summit is well worth it for the views which extend from Toblach to Lienz.

Difficult sections: A/B. Since in sections of the crumbly steep terrain safety ropes have not been able to be provided, absolute sure-footedness is required for the exposed sections!

Topos

