Description

The trail leads from the Neue Reichenberger Hütte first over wide, lush hills to the Daberlenke. From there it goes past many little streams down through the Dabertal valley. Please note that this valley is often not yet accessible in early summer, as there is snow here for a long time and the bridges have to be raised first! After about 3 hours of walking, you cross the Umbalbach stream and come to trail no. 911. Here you turn left and immediately catch sight of the mighty Rötspitze (3,494m). The last 30 minutes of walking time lead you along a narrow, quite sloping path to the Clara Hütte.
