Description

The circular trail in the Zedlach district of Matrei leads through a magical forest that is home to the oldest larch trees in Tyrol. The oldest trees are over 500 years old and have a trunk circumference of up to seven metres. Information boards explain the forest habitat and the development of the larch trees. When the larch trees turn golden yellow in autumn, the Zedlacher Paradies truly becomes a paradise. But even in spring and summer, a hike in this area delivers what it promises.
